WCFE FLAG FOOTBALL MOBILE GAME SET TO SHAKE THE FOOTBALL WORLD

(Palm Springs, CA) — [12 / 17/ 25] — The long-anticipated World Championship Flag Football™ (WCFE) mobile game — described by insiders as “football’s mobile multiplayer moment” — is now available in the Apple App Store, marking a seismic milestone for the fastest-growing global sport on the planet as the first ever flag football video game for boys & girls.

Designed for a generation raised on both esports and the Olympic rise of flag football, WCFE brings the speed, precision, and strategy of real-world flag football to life through cinematic gameplay, next-gen graphics, and intuitive player control.

Leading the charge is AJ Smith, the game’s creator and visionary architect, who now serves as Chief Executive Officer of WCFE LLC.

Smith, known nationally for his innovative offensive mind and coaching pedigree at both the professional and collegiate levels, has engineered WCFE with the same relentless detail and intelligence that have made him one of football’s brightest young innovators.

“I’m proud to introduce a new game theory that blends chess, battleship, and flag football into an exciting multiplayer experience available in over 170 countries worldwide. Through this medium, we have the opportunity to help grow the game of football globally. Kids in India, Japan, Europe, and all over the world will be playing flag football against each other online through our game.” – AJ Smith

World Championship Flag Football™ is the only online multiplayer football game for mobile — where elite athletes, emerging gamers, and new-generation fans can compete, connect, and create.

“We’re not just launching a game,” added Smith. “We’re launching a world wide football movement.”
